Festival Theme

BE A PART OF HISTORY
2017 Festival of Architecture

The Royal Architectural Institute of Canada and the Ontario Association of Architects invite you to participate in the Festival of Architecture to be held May 24-27, 2017 in Ottawa.

The three-day Festival celebrates the theme of Architecture 150. As Canadians celebrate our country’s 150th anniversary, we will pause to consider the role of architecture in creating our built heritage and expressing our culture as we move forward. Architecture profoundly affects people; it forms the buildings and communities that Canadians call home, and it reflects the values of society. The work of architects contributes to well-being, quality of life and economic prosperity. Canadians increasingly appreciate design, yet public awareness of the role of architects is lower than the profession would like. As we solidify the cultural legacy of past generations, how do architects of today and tomorrow exercise their leadership in creating livable and sustainable communities shaped by enduring design excellence?

Festival attendance for 2017 is anticipated to be higher than ever as the RAIC and OAA work in concert to create a robust and engaging schedule of events for architects from across Canada and around the globe.

Don’t miss this exceptional event to ignite the future of architecture while reflecting on our heritage and cultural past.
How can you help, and what can we offer you?

First and foremost, we are looking for support from organizations that want to help us do something that matters. Our goal is to create a space for engaged discussion and collaborative learning, which continues to garner greater understanding and connections among Canada’s dynamic architecture community.

We have been so fortunate in receiving great support from our sponsors, year over year.

We need your help to make this event a reality. We can promise you exposure, display space based on the level of sponsorship (spaces may be limited based on the venue), access and input. Your enthusiasm and support will be a big part of our success, both in terms of attendance and momentum for the future.

We look forward to welcoming you as a sponsor this year!

This sponsorship campaign is being managed by Moore Carlyle Consulting

Alicia Kalozdi-MacMillan, Sponsorship Coordinator
tel. 416-845-1544
tax. 416-621-0363
e-mail. akalozdi@mccevents.ca

Our sponsorship team will be reaching out over the next couple of weeks to discuss the sponsorship program with you.

Please note that these packages are a guideline. We are open to customization in order to find the best package to suit your needs.

We are also willing to consider packages which include ‘in-kind’ donations for all of our attendees or in-kind contributions to offset operating expenses for the Conference.
Who will attend?

Total anticipated attendance this year is 1100 participants, including:

- Leaders in architecture and design
- Emerging talents in architecture and design
- Students entering the field
- Associate members
- Media

Registrants/attendees include architects (principals, associates, project architects) and interns.

Architects design and produce documents that indicate how the building and interior are to be constructed, and review the actual construction to ensure quality, building code and construction budget adherence. These buildings range from churches, schools, offices and houses to public institutions, to name a few and include low-rise and high-rise structures. The process involves many products, legalities, and stakeholders. By being involved in the Conference, sponsors have an opportunity to showcase their products and services to decision makers.

We encourage sponsors to support our GOING GREEN initiative

“A green meeting incorporates environmental considerations to minimize its negative impact on the environment.”

- Green Meeting Industry Council

One of the ongoing initiatives for OAA Conferences is our GOING GREEN program, established in 2008, in an effort to reduce waste, encourage sound environmental practices by delegates, and heighten environmental awareness. As our society becomes more environmentally conscious, there is a need to develop appropriate, practical standards that optimize our use of finite resources.

Please support us in our GOING GREEN initiative.
